HEALTH.TECH GLOBAL SUMMIT 2026: AMAL CLOONEY TO SPEAK AS KEYNOTE SPEAKER

The health.tech global summit 2026, taking place from 3 to 5 March 2026 in Basel, has secured Amal Clooney as an additional internationally renowned speaker for its conference programme. The prominent human rights lawyer will attend the summit in person and appear on stage in Basel.

Amal Clooney is one of the world's leading experts in international law and human rights. She represents clients before international courts and advises governments as well as international organisations on issues of the rule of law, accountability and global justice.

Alongside Amal Clooney, several other internationally recognised figures have already confirmed their participation, including Dr. Anthony Fauci, one of the world's leading experts in infectious diseases and public health, and Tim Peake, former astronaut of the European Space Agency (ESA). Together, they represent the summit's interdisciplinary approach at the intersection of health, technology, science and society.

The health.tech global summit brings together decision-makers from healthcare, technology, science, politics and industry. Key topics include digital transformation, regulation, innovation, global collaboration and responsible technological development. Through the summit, Basel further strengthens its position as an internationally significant hub for health and life sciences.

Participants from Europe, the Middle East, the United States and other regions are expected to attend the health.tech global summit 2026. Participants from Europe, the Middle East, the United States and other regions are expected to attend the health.tech global summit 2026.
